

Improving Health and Health Care in Rural Communities: A Position Paper from the American College of Physicians

A policy paper from the American College of Physicians about how to improve rural health and health care. In the paper, ACP calls for efforts to identify and address challenges that disproportionately impact rural populations and highlights the need to better support physicians and other members of the health care workforce in rural areas.

Annals of Internal Medicine* full text: <https://www.acpjournals.org/doi/10.7326/ANNALS-24-03577>